The Mouse and the Motorcycle Sequence of Events the Chapter 7

Directions: Ralph ran into a pretty big problem in Chapter 7. Put the events in order of their occurrence. Number the sentences 1st-7th. See chapter 7 in the book for help.

- Gradually light began to filter through the cloth until finally, when Ralph thought he could not force his jaws to close on one more mouthful of fiber, he emerged into daylight at the top of the hamper.
 - 2. The maid came into Keith's room with the vacuum cleaner to clean the room.
 - 3. When the vacuum cleaner stopped, Ralph was shot into a pillowcase. The maid piled more laundry on top.
 - 4. Ralph dragged himself off to the mousehole to catch up on the sleep he should have had that day.
 - 5. Ralph ripped into the pillowcase with his sharp teeth and in no time he had made a ragged hole which he crawled through.
 - ____ 6. Ralph was forced to make a decision. He chose to save himself and abandon the motorcycle.
- 7. The vacuum attachment fell off and the vacuum started sucking up things around the room.
